Consultation & Analysis

Calendar Description

This course deals with client consultation, skin analysis, and the anatomy of a facial for both women and men.

Rationale

This is a required course for Esthetician students. Students need to have a basic knowledge of skin types and know how to examine, prepare and perform treatments. As the industry is growing the need to know skin care concerns and procedures for both men and women is an important aspect to the students training. How to set up a room, furnishings and equipment is also covered.
